Coming Governor Election Topic Of Noon Quad Debate

Friday Noon Debate Is Feature Of Grand Rally Program

"Hear ye! Hear ye!" Ladies and gentlemen—the first speaker today will be—
You'll hear words to that effect tomorrow noon in the quad when Coach Ralph Eckert's star debating team will hotly discuss the timely topic: "The Gubernatorial Election in California."

One of the outstanding features of the two-day Grand Rally planned for students, alumni, faculty and friends, the "soap-box" orations are expected by Mr. Ralph Eckert to draw a large crowd.

This event opens the debating season for San Jose State. Three capable speakers, Hubert Staffebach, Everett McCartney, and Charles Pinkham will defend each of the three candidates for governor Friday noon.

Charles Pinkham, upholding Upton Sinclair and Epic program is active in student affairs, and is one of the school's outstanding debaters. Last year, Pinkham was co-winner of the Key Debate, the annual contest engaged in by the six most capable debaters in the school.

Hubert Staffebach, a member of the student council, and vice-president pro-tem of the student body, will uphold Mr. Haight's candidacy.

Everett McCartney is speaking on behalf of Governor Merriam. McCartney is engaging in his first debate for San Jose State, but has had wide experience, having capably filled a church pulpit this summer. He is well informed on the political situation in California.

"Since the present gubernatorial campaign promises to be one of the most hotly contested ones in the history of California, this debate, presenting the unbiased arguments for all candidates, should be of interest to every student," states debate coach Eckert.

Ronald Linn, student body president will act as chairman of the debate.

CHANGES IN CREDENTIAL REQUIREMENTS PLANNED

Changes in credential requirements will be discussed by Mrs. Evelyn Clement, Chief of the Division of Teacher Training and Certification of the State department of Education, when she confers next week, October 17 and 18, with faculty members of San Jose State college.

Mrs. Clement's office has been working for some time on changes in credential requirements, and State School Superintendent Kersey has assured the state colleges that nothing will be printed before the matter has been placed before them.

STATE TEACHERS PUPILS PREPARE FOR PROGRAM

Hallowe'en programs are being prepared by the pupils of Miss Effie Frey and Mrs. Mary Jane Tate, San Jose State student teachers, at their schools in San Luis Obispo county. They will take part in songs, dances, and recitations.

STUDENT BODY DANCE TO BE GRAND FINALE OF SATURDAY'S GAME

Carmen Dragon Orchestra Will Furnish Music; Coaches To Talk

Welcoming old grads and the football heroes of the Chico-San Jose game, victors and vanquished, the second student body dance of the quarter will be held in the San Jose State men's gym Saturday night.

Music for the dance, which will form the grand finale of the Grand Rally, will be furnished by Carmen Dragon's orchestra. Because of the large crowd of alumni and guests expected to attend, it has been decided by Byron Lanphear, chairman of the committee in charge, to place the orchestra in the stands.

That plan, Lanphear explained, will allow considerable more space for dancing.

Although stags will not be admitted to the floor, students are welcome to bring guests.

On the welcoming committee will be Mary Koshenko and Louella Fancel, who will dress in costume reminiscent of the "good old days" on the San Jose campus.

The program which is being arranged will include speeches by both the San Jose and Chico football coaches. Refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Burton Smith.

Bill Jennings is assisting Lanphear in directing the work of the committee on student affairs, which has charge of arrangements for the dance.

Saxon Downs Wins Yell Leader Post

Saxon Downs was elected head yell leader by a large majority and Joe Mack was selected by the student body as Downs's assistant in the student body election yesterday.

Frank F. Merriam held a slim lead of thirty votes over his much discussed rival, Upton Sinclair, in the straw vote conducted in conjunction with the election.

The tabulations were as follows:
Saxon Downs295
Joe Mack103
Allan Jackson66
Joe Teresi57
For Governor:
Frank F. Merriam249
Upton Sinclair218
Raymond Haight73
Sam D'arcy (written in)2

Federal Commodities Workers On Campus To Aid Student SERA

According to Roy W. Pilling, director of the Emergency Relief Administration of California, the Federal Emergency Relief Administration has authorized the State Emergency Relief Administration to make available Federal Surplus Relief commodities to college students who are on college student relief employment projects, providing the student is living with other students on similar projects in some kind of cooperative housing or similar arrangement; or the student is boarding himself with his own cooking; or the students, as the head of a family, is maintaining his own table while in school.

CONDITIONS

Students on college student relief employment projects who are living in dormitories or fraternities are not eligible to receive Federal Surplus Relief commodities.

A student on college student relief employment projects who is living with his parents' may not receive surplus commodities. However, if his family is on direct or work relief, he, as a part of his family, is eligible for these commodities.

The college president of these institutions participating in the part-time College Program should make this information available to all students receiving aid under this program.

APPLY AT SERA

The college students eligible to receive Federal Surplus Relief commodities, in accordance with the above regulations, should make application for these commodities to the local SERA county director.

The county directors, in making their requisitions for surplus commodities, will take into consideration the college students' claims.

PLAQUE MADE BY ROBERT ARABIA IS GIVEN HIGH PLACE

The art plaque, made by Robert Arabia, San Jose State graduate, which has recently been hung over the entrance to the art department from the main building, marks the beginning of an attempt to decorate the entrances to all of the buildings of the college, according to Mrs. Ruth Turner, head of the art department.

That the fountain in the mural should represent the flow of inspiration was the idea of Robert Arabia art major, who was graduated in the summer class of 1934. The figure holding the vase on one side signifies Arts and Crafts, while the palette on the other side portrays the Graphic arts.

Working alone, he first made a small model of the plaque, then did all the pouring and casting himself. The entire piece of work took him about six months to complete.

Varsity Football Men Will Parade Before Squad Supporters

Featuring the first appearance of Saxon Downs, newly elected yell leader, and the introduction of the varsity football squad, a gigantic demonstration of enthusiasm is anticipated tonight when San Jose State college students gather in the Morris Dailey auditorium for a rally heralding the first Far Western Conference game Saturday with Chico.

NOISE MAKERS ALLOWED

Noise makers of every description will be in order, and songs, yells, music, and speeches will reflect the spirit of the big game, which will be the main feature of the Grand Rally celebration to be conducted on the campus Friday and Saturday. Saxon Downs, Jack Reynolds, and Randolph Fitts, assisted by several other students have arranged a program which will be at once inspiring to Coach Dudley DeGroot's squad, and a revelation of fun and noise to the audience.

Martial music appropriate to college and football season will be provided in quantities by the Spartan Band under the direction of Raymond Miller, and all the college yells will again be heard.

GLEE CLUB NUMBERS

Members of the men's glee club will render special novelty numbers, and other entertainment will add to the festivities. The entire football squad will appear on the stage with their mentor, Dudley DeGroot, who is expected to make an oral contribution to the lively program.

Not only members of the student body, but all members of the Spartan squad, are invited to attend the Rally.

Woodwind Ensemble Play Selections For Music Half Hour Soon

The Woodwind Ensemble will present a program at the Musical Half-Hour on Friday, October 19, according to Mr. Thomas Eagan, director of the group.

One movement from Beethoven's "Octette" and one of two movements from Lefebvre's "Sextette for Woodwinds" will make up the program. Both numbers have been arranged for the Ensemble by Mr. Eagan.

It has been rumored, reports Mr. Eagan, that the State College Woodwind Ensemble has been asked through a special invitation to perform for three consecutive days for the California State Music Supervisors Convention to be held in Los Angeles and Pasadena sometime during next quarter.

Mr. Adolph W. Otterstein, head of the Music department, states that the Ensemble will present programs in many high schools this year as the performances have proved a valuable drawing card in acquiring woodwind players for the State college music department.

GRAND RALLY PROGRAM SET FOR CAMPUS BREAK FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Features Fun, Food, And Thrills Plus Chico Game

With Grand Rally opening on the San Jose State college campus tomorrow, all departments in the school were in a flurry of last minute preparation today for the Friday and Saturday re-union of alumni, parents, friends, faculty and students.

The frolic of fun, food and thrills will feature entertainment by every department in the school, with special programs by the home-making, music, drama, industrial arts, and athletic departments.

All classes will be thrown open to visitors during the two day period.

The homemaking department will sponsor a luncheon in the college tearoom Friday, at which time the tearoom will be opened for the first time during the quarter. Afternoon tea will be served to guests from 2:30 till 5 p.m.

The music department is giving a musical half-hour in the Morris Dailey Auditorium.

A one-act play, "The Flattering Word", will be staged by the speech arts department under the direction of Mr. Lawrence Mendenhall, as a number in a variety show, which will in addition feature a verse speaking quartet, the orchesis in a combination dance and monologue and musical numbers.

A complete athletic program is being planned by Miss Helen Hardenbergh, director of athletic activities for the occasion.

"We have planned to furnish games and stunts of appeal to students, faculty, alumni, and interested friends," she declares. "There will be a sport or recreation for everyone."

Two Spartan contests furnish highlights to Saturday's entertainment. Dud DeGroot's men will meet the hard fighting Chico squad, Saturday afternoon, while Coach Charlie Walker's soccer team will tilt with the San Mateo J.C. on the south athletic field at ten o'clock.

In a series of aquatic stunts, Miss Gail Tucker's mermaids will double for porpoise in the college pool.

A campus hop in the men's gym Saturday evening will wind up the two-day frolic.

"We Can't Take It", Pant Wilted Heroes After Dancing Class

Gymnastic dancing is proving to be a real workout for the group of young men who meet with Miss Jewell, of the P. E. department, every Monday night, according to Bill Jennings, ex-Spartan grid star and class member.

Although some members of the class have gone through vigorous athletic careers, after one of Miss Margaret Jewell's classes they are ready to drop from exhaustion, they confess.

Miss Jewell, who goes through the exercises with the men for demonstration purposes, declares that they will soon accustom themselves to the unusual work.

"THE STORY OF AN INSPIRING PAST"

The real history of the San Jose State Teacher's College begins in 1862. Previous to this time there had been a Normal School of sorts in San Francisco, known as the Minns Evening Normal School, in which weekly sessions had been held, but on May 2, 1862, through the efforts of our far seeing pioneer educators, the legislature passed a bill establishing a State Normal School, and setting aside the far from magnificent allotment of $3,000 for five months.

Mr. Ahira Holmes was appointed the first principal and most of the faculty, and on July 18, 1862, gave his opening address to a student body composed of five women and one lone man whose name was Frank G. Randle of San Francisco. The campus was one small room kindly donated by the San Francisco high school, and thus the term got under way. It will easily be seen that the chief equipment of the school was high hopes and a dauntless courage.

A word here about the admission requirements will not be amiss. Would be students had only to sign a statement obligating themselves to engage permanently in the work of teaching in the common schools of the state. Those unwilling to so drastically mortgage their future were required to pay five dollars a month tuition.

"Females, of fifteen years or over, or a male of the age of eighteen or over, shall be entitled to admission as pupils in such Normal and experimental school, upon declaring in writing to the Superintendent of Public Instruction his or her intentions to engage permanently in teaching the common schools of this state", reads the original act, afterwards amended to allow the wary ones to pay tuition and call their future their own.

By March, 1870, the legislature felt that the Normal School had justified its existence, and passed an act naming San Jose as the future home of the Normal School. This site was chosen because of its healthy climate, its suitable size and boarding accommodations, and its accessibility over Berkeley, Napa, and Sacramento, to name only a few of the towns that clamored for the honor.

The first building erected by the state for Normal School was built at a cost of $285,000 in the center of Washington Square, but previous to its completion, classes were held in what is now Horace Mann Grammar School, then in the Reed Street Grammar School, now the Lowell School, and finally in July 1872, in a few completed rooms of the new building.

The Normal School grew and prospered, increasing both in size and influence until February 10, 1880. Early that morning fire broke out in the new building, and in spite of the heroic efforts of students, citizens and faculty, most of the building was burned. Only part of the library, and some of the furniture, was saved.

This should have been enough to daunt even the most courageous but before the fire had burned itself out, Principal Charles F. Allen and the Board of Trustees had completed plans for the re-opening of school next day in the high school building.

Rules For Contributions

The deadline for the contributors' issue of the Spartan Daily draws near and our worries increase proportionally.

After the deadline is passed tomorrow noon, the grief will actually begin. Manuscripts will have to be selected from the ever increasing pile, which is the toughest job we have ever had. Because of the difficulty in determining what masterpieces are to appear in print, we find it necessary to make some new rules.

When we started this thing we said that the articles could be written on any subject. What we meant was that the article did not have to be a news article but could have for its subject any thing that might be of interest to a number of students.

After that we warned contributors about violating the laws of libel. Because of the danger of coming too close to the line where libel begins, and because contributions containing criticisms of affairs off this campus have been handed in from time to time, we find it necessary to ask contributors to confine their comments and criticisms to affairs affecting the campus.

Although these articles bear the signatures of the authors and we publish a statement in every Monday's issue saying that we do not sponsor the articles appearing in the contributor's issue of the Spartan Daily, we are still responsible for what appears in this paper.

This rule must be kept in mind when writing contributions. Since we make no change in the articles, a single statement criticizing outsiders will cause the entire story to be withheld from the Monday's issue.

The word limit is still 500 words but please remember that we have more contributions than we have space. An article of 500 words will have to be outstanding to rate a place in the Monday's issue hereafter.

A popular magazine has proven that stories and articles may be condensed without losing anything that was in the original story. If you will condense your stories after you have written them in full, you can be assured the condensed version will appear in the Spartan Daily.

Increased Enrollment Is Announced by Heath

Mr. Harrison F. Heath, counselor for the technical students, announces an increased enrollment of ninety students in technical education in San Jose State Junior College over that of any previous quarter.

There are 477 registered this quarter in the two-year technical courses offered in this institution, as compared with 387 in the winter quarter of 1933.

Aviation, a newly formed course this quarter, has an enrollment of six students. Photography, radio engineering, and drafting are relatively new.

The number of students taking advantage of the commercial courses comprise over forty per cent of the entire enrollment in the technical division.

The forming of the technical division began in the autumn of 1928. At that time there were only 29 students classified as working toward 13 objectives. The very rapidly increasing registration in this division demonstrates the interest the students are taking in it.

In our library, here at State, we are very fortunate to have the Oxford dictionary, one of the most interesting and helpful dictionaries ever published.

DeGroot Holds Secret Practice For Chico

THE SPORT SPOTLIGHT

By Bob Spotswood

Dud DeGroot felw up to Sacramento following the Olympic game Saturday . . . The Spartan coach said Chico lost to Sacto Jaysee 13-6 in one of those evening affairs . . . The Wildcats should have won, DeGroot says, adding that they will give San Jose quite a tussle here Saturday . . . And that is not pre-game hot air, because the Chico school has plenty of capable reserves for once . . . First conference game, you know . . . Meyers, Johnson, and Stockdale will be unable to play . . . Three of the team's best men . . . The Cal Aggies and Nevada have yet to score a touchdown this season . . . Mickey Slingluff, frosh halfback, seems to be able to get around nicely. . . I wish to reiterate Dick Edmond's statement that Bruning played a fine game Saturday . . . Rather small, but he is rough and tough . . . U. S. C. seems to have collapsed altogether in a football way . . . Imagine Washington State or anyone else beating them 19-0.

Down Gonzales way they'll be talking about the San Jose Olympic Club game for a couple of weeks . . . Francis Pura, a home town boy, made one of the Spartan touchdowns; . . . He looked pretty good out there too . . . Pors and Stockdale played their first game in two years when they went up against Stanford two weeks ago . . . A tough assignment after so long a layoff . . . And now the soccer team loses to Stanford . . . Hope the frosh footballers break the jinx and edge out the Indian babes Saturday . . . The Card's 1934 frosh are supposed to be as good as that Alustiza, Moscrip, Grayson outfit of 1932 . . . I see in the papers where some drunk ran out on the field after the Oregon State-Stanford game and tackled Tiny Thornhill . . . Which is quite a tackle . . . Thornhill retaliated by throwing the souse into the first row of seats . . . My favorite topic, the Dean Bros., came through nicely in the Series . . . Portal's boxing class is attracting a lot of interest . . . Portal seems to know what it is all about . . . Nevada and the Cal Aggies have boxing teams . . . The Aggies, in particular, are plenty good.

Bill Delancey, St. Louis catcher, is only 19 years old and caught every game in the World's Series . . . Like most big leaguers, Delancey is a southerner, hailing from North Carolina . . . Gratton Hardiman is playing Sunday baseball with the Padre Theater nine . . . Quite an athlete, this Hardiman . . . Eddie Korbett, of fistic fame, is enrolled as a frosh here. . . Korbett has had bouts in San Jose and Oakland with a great deal of success . . . Apostoli, the amateur middleweight champ, turned pro Tuesday and won on a K.O. . . The best fighter San Francisco has produced in many a year, so they say.

Nevada's Wolfpack is doing plenty of travel lately, Brick Mitchell's team having already been down to the Bay district twice this season, only to be soundly thumped by Santa Clara and California. The Sagehens make their third trip to San Francisco over the week-end, meeting Pat Frayne's Galloping Gaels in Kezar stadium tomorrow afternoon in a "dime classic".

FROSH GRID TEAM WILL PLAY STANFORD BABES AT FARM ON SATURDAY

By Dick Edmonds

The State freshmen football team makes its second start of the 1934 season against the Stanford frosh eleven in a preliminary to the Stanford-Northwestern clash Saturday.

Walter McPherson, end, and Bob Walden, halfback will be on the sidelines due to injuries. McPherson, who has been coming along rapidly at flank position, will be out of the game for at least four weeks with a broken collar bone. Walden has been bothered with a neck injury.

According to Jimmy Bradshaw, Stanford frosh coach, the Indians are heavy and powerful this year. They made their initial start against Menlo Junior College and triumphed impressively by the score of 27 to 0.

The State freshmen looked strong in their clash with Mission high Saturday and are going up to Palo Alto to make the best possible showing, according to Coach DeWitt Portal who has had his charges working hard this week in order to prepare them to better cope with the weight of the Stanford eleven.

Portal will probably start the same line-up which opened the Mission battle. The line will include Collins and Hanson at ends, Strowbridge and Westall at the tackle positions. Hudson and Swartzell or Hesse will open the game at the guard spots. Voorhees, who played a fine defensive game last week will get the call at center.

"Bull" Lewis will undoubtedly start at the fullback post and is expected to trouble the Stanford Papooses with his passing and defensive play. Slingluff, Palo Alto speedster, who looks so well in the safety position, along with Fink and Sanchez will comprise the backfield for the Spartans.

out of St. Mary's annual battle with Nevada. Not a 'gigantic' as football games go, the Gael coach has built the affair into some sort of an attraction by admitting anyone under twenty-one years of age into the stadium for ten cents. Last year approximately twenty thousand saw the game.

Santa Clara County is known as the "Valley of Heart's Delight" because of its equable climate, scenic attractions and varied fruit productions.

CHICO LOSES GAME TO SACRAMENTO J. C. 12-6

Playing under adverse conditions throughout, the Cardinals of Chico State dropped a 12-6 game at Sacramento Junior College in the Sacramento Stadium last Saturday night. A slick ball and Chico's maiden effort under lights produced a game full of thrills and errors and one that will leave a doubt in the minds of many as to who had the better team—Sacramento or Chico.

A 6-0 lead at half time resulting from the bullet tosses of Dick Jenks, the Willows flash, and the sensational catches of Herb Bowe, was quickly dissipated in the second half when the junior college lads swept over a score in two minutes. From then on breaks came thick and fast—and all were bad for Chico. Bob Tyler, Cardinal end, dropped two passes which would have meant sure touchdowns, and several bad fumbles and misplays by other Chico men marred what should have been a Chico victory.

This week will find considerable revamping on the Chico team and many changes in first-string personnel are due. The work of Eddie Jorgenson was especially outstanding and has probably won him a starting half back job over Haynes. With the opening conference game with San Jose slated for Saturday some one must be found to fill the shoes of Manny Gonzales and Bud Asher, stellar linemen who are on the bench. With these two men out of the game Chico will average slightly less than 165 pounds from end to end.

Varsity Swimmers Assist In Teaching Beginners to Swim

A new method of teaching swimming is being tried by coach Charley Walker in his nine o'clock elementary swimming class.

Several varsity swimmers of last year's team are demonstrating the various strokes and help the regular members of the class develop good swimming form.

According to Walker this system will not only assist those enrolled in the course, but will also give the varsity swimmers a chance to get in shape for the coming swimming season.

State Band Will Give Concert Before Chico Game Saturday

A concert and elaborate marching drill will feature the activities of the San Jose State College Band next Saturday afternoon as part of the program at Spartan Stadium, according to Mr. Adolph W. Otterstein, head of the Music department.

The concert, directed by Mr. Raymond Miller, will begin at 2:00 p.m., half an hour before the game.

There are 13 grammar schools, four junior high schools, one high school, two secretarial schools, eight parochial and diocesan schools, and the State Teachers college located in the city of San Jose.

New Offense Is Planned To Win From Wildcats

By BOB SPOTSWOOD

Chico State's Wildcats come to town Saturday amid a great blaring of trumpets announcing their arrival. The 'Cats', it seems, have quite a club this season and Dud DeGroot is showing his respect for the Butte County eleven by drilling his San Jose charges behind the closed gates of Spartan Stadium in anticipation for one of the stiffest arguments his boys will have all season.

The Valley team caused quite a furor last year when they slapped a 7 to 0 defeat upon the record of San Jose to rob the local gridsters of a conference championship. DeGroot and Hubbard are not going to stand for anything of that order this season and the Gold and White eleven is being drilled as intensively as if they were meeting Notre Dame instead of Chico Saturday.

DeGroot and Hubbard aren't exactly figuring upon sending a vote of thanks to Sacramento Jaysee for defeating Coach Acker's eleven 13-6 last Saturday. The Wildcats will be very wild indeed when they dash into the Spartan stadium for the first conference game of the season. Reports from Sacramento say that Chico should have won the game, as they clearly outplayed their junior college rivals.

San Jose's team is scrimmaging against the frosh this week and Dud DeGroot plans to 'shoot the works' against Coach Acker's men. With Stockdale out of the backfield with an injured hand, Dave Barr and Burt Watson will literally be 'on the spot'. These two lads will be depended upon to do the punting and passing.

Chico has a stubborn forward wall this season, with plenty of veterans and capable replacements, so it may be that the Spartans will have to score via the air. With Barr and Watson tossing the passes to fellows such as Simoni, Baldwin, Lantagne, Bruning, and Baracchi, San Jose State has a pretty fair aerial attack.

Incidentally, 'Si' Simoni looks alright at the end position and the tackle posts have not been weakened by his departure, as Daily, Burt, Becker, and Hardiman have been doing very well. Becker has a badly swollen eye, suffered in scrimmage, but it should not keep the Burlingame boy out of the Chico battle.

The team is showing plenty of enthusiasm, despite the warm weather which makes a fellow feel more like swimming than playing football.

Photography Collection Of George Stone Is Newest Feature Of State Library

San Jose Instructor Has Many Photographs Of Paintings

As a result of one man's intense interest in photography, and his dream of creating a museum of camera recordings, San Jose State has in its library a collection of 2,000 pictures covering the subjects of astronomy, the animal kingdom, and the history of flight. Other photographs included in the collection are of art and archeology, from the Egyptian to the Gothic period.

Returning with 10,000 negatives after a three month's stay in England photographing the cathedrals, and six months spent in Italy, Mr. George Stone, San Jose State photography instructor, developed 3,000 of his pictures and pasted them on cards. These he has loaned to the college library, which, because of limited space, has been able to house only 2,000.

ENTERPRISE FAILED

This collection is the beginning of an enterprise that failed, according to Mr. Stone.

"I thought that there ought to be a place where people could come and look at pictures," he said, "a museum of photography where they could come and see what artists and others have done."

In carrying out this idea Mr. Stone realized that there would have to be a factory where everything was made and prepared, and also an operating museum. This evolved much expense, and the value of a photo, he explained, is limited.

SERVICE LIMITED

When applied to education," Mr. Stone explained, "The photograph has a very limited service, because of the very fact that it is so highly specific, and tells about only one thing.

"Therefore, one must have an enormous collection—about everything from art to zoology, and that's covering quite a field. I made an estimate, and found that 8 to 10,000 subjects have to be included, with 7 to 100,000,000 negatives."

According to Mr. Stone, the very specific nature of photographs is also a disturbing factor in selling to schools. So many are needed and the school funds are so limited that the photographer has to produce fine, accurate pictures at a low enough price to fit their means.

NON PROFIT ENTERPRISE

"Before the war, I realized that such an enterprise would have to be done without profit," Mr. Stone said, and went on to tell of the non-profit organization that he and others formed.

Constantly changing and keeping up with the times in its photographic collection, this organization was hit by the depression, even with a $25,000 gift. So everything was boxed and Mr. Stone went off for a year's stay in Europe.

The result of his trip, and the remnants of a courageous enterprise that failed, may be seen, in part, in the photograph files now in the State library.

The population of San Jose, by the 1930 census, is 80,000 with due allowance for children and for women whose names are not in the directory.

Health Cottage to Hold 'Open House' Saturday For Alumni, Students

An opportunity to visit the Edwin Markham Health Cottage will be offered students, alumni and parents Saturday from 10 to 12 a.m. and 2 to 5 p.m. as part of the Grand Rally program, it was announced by Miss Lydia Innes, chairman of the rally committee.

"As part of the Grand Rally program, we are endeavoring to give the students, alumni and parents a glimpse of the different departments of the college. This is an opportunity to visit the Edwin Markham Health Cottage which, no doubt, many students have never seen," stated Miss Innes.

The Health Cottage is located at 430 South 8 street, and for its support is contributed one-third of the student body dues. The health department is but one of the many that is holding "open house" for the interest of students, alumni, faculty and interested friends.

SOPHOMORES WILL MEET TODAY AT 11 IN ROOM 53 TO VOTE ON TRADITIONS

The sophomore class will hold its second meeting of the quarter today in room 53, according to Jim Grimsley, class president.

Each member of the class is urged to be present, as there will be a discussion of entertainment and other plans for the year.

Other business will include voting on the proposal that sophomores adopt traditions and the electing of a W. A. A. representative.

Ronald Linn, student body president, and Dr. Raymond Mosher, recently elected class faculty adviser, will address the meeting.

Manuscripts Of Honor Society Aspirants Will Receive Consideration

Manuscripts from aspiring San Jose State writers who wish to become members of Pegasus, literary honor society, will receive consideration, it was announced by Bob Wright, president.

Articles of any type from prospective members may be handed in to Mrs. Sybil Hanchett, advisor, Kay Woods, secretary of the club Bob Wright, or Dr. Raymond W. Barry, head of the English department. Manuscripts are read and judged anonymously before the club members at their meetings.

Manuscripts of prospective members were read, and refreshments were served at the conclusion of the Tuesday night meeting. Those who attended were Frances Britton, Mary Ferrasci, Beryl Hoskins, Dorothy Steaffens, Ethel Lee Ruhlen, Kay Woods, Einar Christy, Bob Wright, Dean Cowger, and Dr. Raymond W. Barry.

STATE GIRLS DESCRIBED AS RELIABLE, SENSIBLE BY DEAN H. DIMMICK

Development of Individuality Considered Important By College Women

By JUNE FARES

State Women Change with the times.

They are the vanguard of their generation.

So declares Miss Helen Dimmick, Dean of women, and friend, helper, and adviser to San Jose State's co-ed population.

"Our girls are more serious about life and more sensible about dressing," says Miss Dimmick, "In everything they have become less extreme and approach the Greek ideal of 'nothing too much'.

"Due, no doubt, to the chaotic conditions to the world, they have become more interested in political and scientific developments."

Dean Dimmick feels that an interest in the development of personality has grown among her girls; and, thanks to the delightful informality which characterizes our modern times, that the present day girl has more winsomeness.

"Ten years ago health facilities at State were not as fine as they are today," she says, "the clinic and Markham Cottage were in the infancy. Due to better equipment and more stress on athletics, the girls have kept fit physically and have more endurance."

"A large percentage of girls come to State than did ten years ago for many reasons," reveals Dean Dimmick. "They think it the thing to do, the style, as it were, in order to prepare for the future."

"Additional technical, commercial, and musical courses fulfill their needs. Classes, such as interior decoration, have been added to the curriculum to satisfy the peculiar demands of the modern miss, and these likewise have drawn many who would not otherwise come to State.

"The depression has had an appreciable effect on State girls," declares Miss Dimmick. "Many have quit through lack of funds, although generally, they manage to stick on by sheer grit. Some find part-time jobs. Other girls who cannot find a whole time position outside, continue at State in order to improve themselves for the time when opportunity will knock. San Jose State girls have stamina. They have become more aggressive and self-sufficient."

"Records show that our girls are going ahead in their chosen fields. College women are taking their place in the world of affairs. Among our present faculty members who have graduated from State in the last ten years are: Miss Leana Fisher, Art instructor, Miss Doris Dean, physical education instructor, Miss Mildred Gentry, History instructor, and Mrs. Gertrude Moore, Natural Science instructor.

"Many of the graduates have made a success in other schools in San Clara County and outlying counties. Better placement through the appointment board has increased and constantly reflects the attitude for more places for State women."

Because of the increased number, Miss Dimmick feels that the intimacy of former years has broken down somewhat, but the present group is a wholesome group and reflects the best trend of the times.

Featured in the Grand Rally Variety show Friday night will be the terpsichorean talent shown in "The King's Breakfast"—combination dance and monologue—that will be given at 8:30 p.m. in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

Miss Margaret Jewell has arranged a new cast for this dance drama which won so much comment last year in the Orchestris' dance program.

The comedy court scene will be enacted by the following cast: Alice Parrish, Beth Simerville, June Raynor, Carmelita Gilchrist, Evelyn Hartman, Virginia Hamilton, Lillian Brown, Lillian Redivoj, Muriel Ernst, Ruth Eaton, Doris Frost, and Janet Cameron. Ray Ruf will read the lines.

"The King's Breakfast" is but a part of the delightful program planned by the Speech and Music departments.

Admission is free.

Health Cottage Board Announces Increase In Staff Of Nurses There

Miss Irene Clark has been added to the staff of the Edwin Markham Health Cottage this year as night nurse, and two replacements were made with the appointment of Miss Verna Joimson, R. N., as head nurse, and Miss Constance Knudsen, of the State College class of 1933, as dietician.

According to the board of directors of the health cottage, Mrs. E. M. Burero, who has been active at the cottage since it was moved to its present site, and who is well-known among the students, will remain this year as a nurse.

The Edwin Markham Health Cottage has been in existence for nine years, and is open to all members of the Associated Students of San Jose State who have paid their fees in full.

The board wishes that the students make use of the health cottage service, particularly in the cases of colds this fall and winter, according to Miss Elizabeth McFadden, of the health department.

San Jose State Instructors Develop Cheaper Facilities For Lighting; Plan New Lab

Cheaper lighting facilities and a laboratory for instruction in Diesel engineering for San Jose State are being developed by Mr. Frank F. Peterson, of the mathematics department, and Mr. Judson Aspinwell, head of the industrial arts department.

At present San Jose State is paying twice as much for lighting rates as other colleges in the state, they declare, and a Diesel plant would materially lower this cost.

Installing the plant would not require any additional buildings or employees, which would tend to further lessen expenses, according to the plan's sponsors.

Arline Rudin's Students Build Mexican Village

A Mexican village in miniature has been constructed on a classroom sand table by the pupils of Miss Arline Rudin, San Jose State student teacher at the Lowell school.

The class has also made decorative Mexican figures for the classroom curtains.

Capable Committee To Aid Yell Leader With Rally

Speakers and entertainments suitable for assembly and orientation programs have been made available by a college activities fund of $900, it was learned by the Student Council at their meeting Monday.

FUND COMMITTEE

Ronald Linn, student body president, appointed a committee of three to take charge of this matter. They are Charles Pinkham, Fred King and Blanche Corriveau.

A committee working under Sax-on Downs, composed of Jack Reynolds, chairman; William Pitta, and Micheal Angelo, was appointed to take charge of the Thursday night rally for the Chico-San Jose game.

Vera Moss was chosen to be Health Cottage Representative.

WESTERN CONFERENCE

Miss Moss read a request from W.A.A. requesting the sum of $10.00 to take care of expenses of Home-Coming Day. This was granted by the committee, subject to Dr. MacQuarrie's approval.

A letter, concerning a Far Western Conference to be held at the College of the Pacific on October 26 and 27, was read by Evelyn Cavala, student council secretary, and it was decided that three representatives, as yet unnamed, be sent to this conference.

A motion that a vote of thanks be extended to Dolores Frietas for her services as editor of the Student Handbook, was moved and carried. There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

NEW HUMOR BOOK BY DR. HOLLIDAY TO APPEAR SOON

Dr. Carl Holliday of the San Jose State English department, already the publisher of several volumes of poetry and numerous magazine articles, recently announced that two magazine articles and a book now in the hands of the publishers, will soon appear in print.

One article entitled "Colonial Laughter", will be included in an early issue of the "English Journal" published in Chicago. "Colonial Laughter" deals with the humor of American colonists up to 1780, seeking to disprove the popular belief that the Colonists were a solemn lot.

"England Sings" will appear in "The Catholic World" soon. The article is a history of the popular songs of England from the year 1400 to the present. "England Sings" is a sequel to Dr. Holliday's "America Sings", published in the same magazine last year.

The book, which will be ready for publication in November, is entitled "America Laughs", and is a complete history of American wit and humor from 1607 to the present day. Some nine-hundred humorists are included in this interesting survey. Since next year is the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of Mark Twain, the book will probably be issued early in the year to meet the aroused interest in American humor.

Have you ever tried to guess the height of the sign, San Jose State College, which is painted on the water tank? Our guess is that it is 207 feet high.
